Recognizing local heroes for above and beyond selfless service to the Toledo Community.

WHEREAS, recognizing that each year in the course of their chosen line of work, individuals perform selfless acts of heroism in service to their neighbors and community, today we honor three recent local examples represented by employees of the Toledo Police Department (TPD), Toledo Fire & Rescue Department (TFRD), and the Toledo Area Regional Transit Authority (TARTA), “Toledo firefighters and police officers twice rescued people who fell through the ice in the same frozen pond Friday morning in North Toledo.

But after his transit agency's mandatory training in January 2018, he took the offered overdose-reversal kit and, seven months later, used those skills to save someone's life along his route.

A devastating fire broke out early on Thursday January 24 on Prouty Avenue. Neighbors' frantic calls to 911 bring back intense reminders of how terrifyingly close they were to not making it out of the fire alive.

[As all five of the Reynolds fought to escape the flames, the mother, Alexandria] passed out just inches from the door outside. When she fell Addison ,7, became trapped in the home. She was inside the blaze close to seven minutes after the first 911 call and firefighters had to rescue her.
